The Market Environment

September 30, 2022

The U.S. equity market is in the midst of one of the worst sell-offs in the past 20 years, ahead of only the global financial crisis and COVID shutdown. Stock indexes produced gains during the first half of the quarter on strong earnings reports, particularly in technology and energy. While earnings have been falling short of expectations this year, they continue to trend higher versus 2021. The rally collapsed, however, after Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell stated in August that the Fed would continue to combat inflation in a way that could cause "some pain" for the U.S. economy. Rising rates have been the story of 2022 as investors are now able to capture a positive real return from bonds, which has allowed them to redirect dollars away from riskier assets. Real GDP growth contracted during the second quarter, down an annualized -0.6%. This marks the second consecutive negative quarter, which is the common, albeit unofficial, definition of a recession. Declines in residential investment, government spending and business inventories were the root causes. The Atlanta Fed's GDPNow forecast for the third quarter currently stands at 2.4%.

The Treasury curve rose across all maturities during the third quarter with the smallest changes still more than 50 basis points. The 10-year Treasury closed at 3.83%, up 81 basis points since June. The 10-year real yield (i.e., net of inflation) rose 101 basis points to 1.68%. The Federal Open Market Committee increased the fed funds rate by a total of 1.50% this quarter, targeting a range of 3.0% to 3.25%. The committee's current median outlook is for a rate of approximately 4.4% by the end of 2022. Consumer price changes have moderated, yet remain elevated, as the Consumer Price Index jumped 1.4% for the three months ending August. For the one-year period, the CPI is up 8.2%. The 10-year break-even inflation rate decreased to 2.15% in September versus 2.34% in June.

The U.S. stock market, represented by the FT Wilshire 5000 IndexSM, was down -4.45% for the third quarter and is now down -24.4% for all of 2022. Most sectors were down for the quarter. The worst performing were Communication Services (-12.5%), Real Estate (-10.9%) and Materials (-6.7%). The two sectors producing gains were Consumer Discretionary (+4.0%) and Energy (+3.6%). From a size perspective, small cap outperformed large by 98 basis points. Growth stocks outperformed value for the quarter but trail meaningfully for the year-to-date.

The U.S. Treasury yield curve was up meaningfully across all maturities during the quarter, with increases ranging from 60 to 165 basis points. The 10-year Treasury yield ended the quarter at 3.83%, up 81 basis points from June. Credit spreads widened during the quarter within investment grade bonds but tightened, slightly, for high yield bonds, after an outsized jump of 163 basis points in June. The Federal Open Market Committee met twice during the quarter, as scheduled, and increased the overnight rate by 0.75% in both July and September, targeting a range of 3.00% to 3.25%. The Fed's "dot plot" is messaging that the current intent is for another 125 basis points in increases before the end of 2022. Equity markets reacted negatively to Fed Chair Jerome Powell's "pain" speech in August where he clearly stressed the committee's current goal of taming inflation.

Performance results within international equity markets were negative for the third quarter, with developed outperforming emerging markets. The MSCI EAFE Index was down -9.4% for the quarter, while the MSCI Emerging Markets Index was down -11.6%. In Europe, monetary policy tightening and an energy crisis due, in part, to restricted Russian gas supplies weighed on stocks. In late September, the Bank of England found it necessary to intervene in the bond market after a massive sell-off of UK government bonds, announcing a temporary purchase program of long-dated bonds. China is currently struggling on several fronts – slowing growth, record high youth unemployment and a collapsing housing market. Its zero-COVID policy is arguably making matters worse, as full or partial lockdowns announced in late September will affect approximately 125 million people.
